Applicant's Response

1. In Applicant's Response dated 11/21/2008, Applicant amends the claims and provides corresponding arguments that are persuasive.

All objections and rejections previously set forth are withdrawn.

Allowable Subject Matter

2. Claims 1-22, 24 are allowed.
3. The following is an examiner's statement of reasons for allowance

Claims 1, 12, 13, 17 and 22

The closest prior art of Fitzmaurice and Kurtenbach teach marking menus that allow the user to place a stylus at a location on a screen and drag or stroke the stylus in a given direction. The stroke (line segment) is displayed on the screen in conjunction with a menu. With both inventions when the user makes a stroke in a given quadrant a given menu will activate on the screen. Kurtenbach and Fitzmaurice show menus with individually selectable items and a mark that represents the location where the user first touched the interface. However, the prior art does not suggest or disclose the combination, as claimed, of moving the second end of the segment by rotating the segment about the mark, where the rotating segment end is moved over menu selections and the menus are enlarged as the segment end is in proximity to it. The Kurtenbach menus suggest highlighting or coloring a menu when the stroke is made over it and Fitzmaurice shows a graphical change to the menu for the indicated selection. Kurtenbach and Fitzmaurice require the user to stroke the stylus in a given direction. This feature is different from the claims that recite rotation of the segment about the mark, which allows the user to move the mark in several directions. The claims also recite enlarging the menu selection, relative to the other selections, when the end of the segment is in proximity to the menu and then selecting the menu with a user action. Neither Kurtenbach nor Fitzmaurice disclose the combined feature, specifically enlarging the selection relative to the second end of the segment and therefore the prior art does not teach the combined limitations as recited in the claims and is allowable over the prior art.

Art Unit: 2179

Claims 2-11, 24, 14-16, 18-21

These claims are dependent upon Claims 1, 12, 13, 17 and 22 and are thus allowable.

Any comments considered necessary by applicant must be submitted no later than the payment of the issue fee and, to avoid processing delays, should preferably accompany the issue fee. Such submissions should be clearly labeled "Comments on Statement of Reasons for Allowance."
